The I-73 Project is Important for The Growth of The Grand Strand

"What a great victory for Myrtle Beach to receive a $10 million of grant to begin work on I-73. This is the result of hard work from our state's leaders and signals the importance of this project. As your next Congressman, I will continue to fight for funding and the execution of this and other infrastructure that will bring business to our state and boost our economy. From my years of experience working to bring Daimler-Chrysler, Verizon Wireless, Boeing, and many other businesses to Charleston, I understand the importance of having the infrastructure to bring more industry, business, and jobs to our state." A $10 million federal stimulus grant announced Wednesday will kick-start the key Interstate 73 interchange at I-95, a move that supporters say is a major boost to the planned highway.

"This is great news for South Carolina, as we're now $10 million closer to completing I-73," said state Rep. Alan Clemmons, R-Myrtle Beach, chairman of the National I-73/74 Corridor Association.

The money will be used to begin work on a segment of the project that is estimated to cost more than $300 million.

The grant "reaffirms the importance of I-73 and provides a sound investment in a very important project," said Rep. Tracy Edge, R-North Myrtle Beach, who co-chairs the S.C. I-73/74 Corridor Association. Read More
