General Livingston Joins Tim Scott's Policy Team as An Advisor

Congressional Medal of Honor Recipient, retired General James Livingston has joined 1st District Congressional Candidate Tim Scott's campaign as an advisor.

General Livingston will advise Mr. Scott on issues relating to DOD (Department of Defense), Homeland Security and issues important to active duty and retired military.

Tim Scott agrees with General Livingston that the current administration is weak on terror and that we need strong leadership in Congress.

Tim Scott is honored to have such an inspirational, courageous and informed member on his team. "The General is a man for whom I have the utmost respect; not only what he did for his country while in uniform but what he continues to do as a great American." There is no one I trust more when it comes to defending America and our values than General Livingston", Scott said. "He is a tremendous asset to me and my campaign."
