REFORM TAX CODE

Our current tax code is a product of too much lobbying, too much "lawyering", and too much bureaucracy. By being overly complex and punitive, the code threatens the economic freedom of the average citizen and the ability of our businesses to compete in the global economy.

Tim Scott is a prominent supporter of the SC Fair Tax. This will simplify the tax code, and result in a fairer, more stable, and more efficient system which taxes consumption instead of income. The plan addresses the needs of the least fortunate Americans, while also promoting jobs and economic growth.

Tim supports eliminating the death tax so that families no longer have to fear losing their life's work to the tax collector.

Because he is a businessman and entrepreneur who has created jobs, Tim understands that the United States needs a tax code that favors work, savings, investment, and productivity.
